"Entra! Extra! Dick Croker assassinated!" Dr. Doty explained this morning that He had a large bundle of evening the fact that the Department was making a greater effort to keep track of all the cases which exist in the city. To obtain this information physicians had been requested to report all cases that in any way appeared complicated with diphtheria. As a matter of routine all such instances were reported to the Bureau of Contagious Diseases.

Cultures were then taken from the partients and submitted to a bacteriological examination, which resulted in determining the true from the false diphtheria. Guile a large per cent, of the latter is found which reduces the amount of actual diphtheria to about the normal degree of prevalence for this season of the year.
